NEW EXHIBIT ON LONGTIME FILMMAKER AND CHILD ACTOR MICKY MOORE TO OPEN AT PEPPERDINE UNIVERSITY – AUGUST 20–DECEMBER 15

Pepperdine University Libraries is pleased to announce a new exhibition highlighting the life and work of longtime filmmaker and childhood actor Michael D. "Micky" Moore. Moore began his film career as a silent screen child actor. Between 1917 and 1929, he acted in over 40 films and worked with such silent screen stars as Mary Pickford, Jack Holt, Gloria Swanson, Lillian Gish, Conrad Nagel and Tom Mix. However, the most influential relationship he developed during this time period was with legendary director Cecil B. DeMille, who became his mentor. Moore acted in four of DeMille's films, including the epic The King of Kings. DeMille helped Moore transition from childhood actor to a career behind the camera.

Micky Moore directing Paradise, Hawaiian Style with Suzanne Leigh and Elvis Presley (around 1966).

From the 1960s on, Moore became well-known as a reliable and confident second unit director with a knack for action sequences. He worked on some of the most famous movies of the twentieth century including: Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid; Patton; Rooster

Cogburn; Paradise, Hawaiian Style; Raiders of the Lost Ark; Indiana Jones and the Temple of Doom; and Indiana Jones and the Last Crusade. Moore retired in 2000 after completing his final movie, the Walt Disney picture 102 Dalmatians.

The exhibit will feature a diverse array of archival materials that document Moore's career and include photographs, scripts, sketches, storyboards, production materials, correspondence, and cameras. Micky was a long time Pepperdine Crest Associate and he is remembered and celebrated by his family and friends through this exhibit. He passed away in March of 2013. The materials will be on display on the first floor of Payson Library from August 20 to December 15. For questions about the exhibit please contact Katie Richardson, Archivist for Special Collections and University Archives, at 310.506.4323 or katie.richardson@pepperdine.edu.
