MESSAGE FROM THE President

For the first time in the 70 years of the Pepperdine Bible Lectures, we will be focusing on the book of Revelation—a book which provides a final exclamation point in scripture, filled with both puzzling images and inspiring poems of praise.

For many of us, John’s Apocalypse is unfamiliar. Sometimes we’ve kept our distance because of its strange symbolism; at other times, we’ve steered clear because of the way it has been commandeered by popular, sensational theology.

But despite the unfamiliar images and misguided attempts to tame the book, I’m convinced that we need to hear again John’s vital voice as we seek to be God’s faithful witnesses in the 21st century.

Our world is very different in some ways from the one John knew. But in other ways, our issues are similar: Do we ever feel like we’re serving a losing cause? Does it ever seem like our faithful service doesn’t matter? We need to hear John reminding us that God—not Satan, not the beasts, certainly not the empire—is in control.

The annual Bible Lectures are a highlight of the year here at Pepperdine. We’re so thankful that this beautiful campus which has been entrusted to us by God can be the setting for these times of study, worship, and renewal.

This year we welcome Mike Cope as director of ministry outreach and the Pepperdine Bible Lectures. A well-known minister, author, lecturer, and blogger, Mike is a worthy guide in his new role as we anticipate this time together, gaining greater insight and understanding of God’s word.

We—along with hundreds of speakers, teachers, and worship leaders who’ve been preparing for months—look forward to seeing you this spring. Please come join us in Malibu, April 30 - May 3!

Andrew K. Benton
President
Do you remember the first time you watched The Wizard of Oz? As Dorothy and her friends pressed toward the Emerald City, you could only imagine how terrible and mighty the wizard was. When they finally arrived, the brave troop trembled in the presence of his disembodied voice. Then everything changed in a moment. Dorothy’s dog, Toto, pulled back the curtain, unveiling “the great and powerful Oz” as an insecure little man.

John’s Apocalypse—his “unveiling”—makes a similar move. For Christians tempted to compromise or to give up in a world dominated by Rome, he exposes the power behind the empire. Satan, the power behind the power, seems like one with no equal. But when we catch a glimpse of John’s unveiling, we realize that Satan has already been defeated by the lamb who was slain.

What a needed message for us, too—for believers who are tempted to throw in the towel out of futility or to fight back with the world’s tactics.

A study of Revelation is full of challenges, not least of which is its terrifying and puzzling images: a multi-headed red dragon who plots war; two insomnia-inducing, blasphemous beasts; and then a ‘great prostitute’ who is drunk from overindulging on the blood of the saints. There’s also the challenge of various interpretations of the book—some bizarre, and a few delusional. G. K. Chesterton put it well: “Though St. John the Evangelist saw many strange monsters in his vision, he saw no creature as wild as one of his own commentators.”

But let us not despair! This “joker in the deck of biblical texts” has so much to offer us as we seek to be faithful witnesses of the one John calls the faithful and true witness, the one who laid down his life for the world.

Please come join us April 30-May 3 as we center our hopes again on the throne of God and on the lamb who is among us. Let’s gather to celebrate the victory of Christ, to reconnect to beloved brothers and sisters, to anticipate God’s new world, to worship the one “who was, and is, and is to come,” and to envision again entering our communities as those who “follow the lamb wherever he goes” (14:4).

This is my first conference to lead, following the amazing 30 years with Jerry Rushford as director. I look forward to having John—whom Eugene Peterson described as “God-intoxicated, God-possessed, God-articulate”—guide us.

We are in the midst of a digital revolution that has created a seismic shift in our culture and altered the way we think about the nature of all things and how we connect and relate to one another. The church cannot afford to ignore a revolution that may be presenting as many opportunities as it is threats.

Digital content is ubiquitous and as Gary Veltman, blogging at the crossroads of higher education and culture, says, “Technology and media are not neutral, that is, they shape worldviews, habits, and virtues for better or worse.” Though few dismiss new media and technology as a passing fad, many wonder whether these new communication forms lift the human spirit or diminish it.

As the church awakens to the challenges and opportunities presented by a digital revolution, it must look to guides who can discern the value of new media and identify opportunities for reaching the world through storytelling. After all, Jesus cared deeply about making connections and revealing the true nature of things.

Craig Detweiler, associate professor of communication at Seaver College and director of Pepperdine’s Center for Entertainment, Media, and Culture, has spent his career writing and lecturing about the stories that shape our ideas and our culture. Drawing upon his own career as a screenwriter, as well as his personal relationships with nearly every believer working in Hollywood today, Craig has become one of the leading voices on this subject.

He has attracted people like Ralph Winter, producer of Secretariat and The X-Men, and Tom Shadyac, director of Liar, Liar and Bruce Almighty to teach and mentor Pepperdine’s aspiring screenwriters and filmmakers. Together they are engaged in a hopeful dialogue around the role storytelling can play in shaping society’s views on matters of faith.

Craig sees the value less in the ever-changing landscape of new media and more in the craft of storytelling itself. These days, he finds the modern storyteller developing narratives using all available mediums. Whether through books, movies, music, graphic novels, video games, or social networks, today’s storytellers are making deep connections with their audiences, reflecting, and then shaping their ideas and beliefs. New media has placed the power of influence in the hands of the best storytellers.

THE PEPPERDINE BIBLE LECTURES

is pleased to welcome Craig to the 2013 program. His presentation on finding the sacred within pop culture will stir your imagination as to the possibilities of connecting meaningfully with the communities around you. The question is: Will Christians choose to spend their energy protesting mediums that deliver vulgar content, or embrace mediums that deliver life-changing stories?

CRAIG’S CLASS WILL BE HELD AT 2:30PM EACH DAY:

- Footprints of the Divine (SEEKING THE SACRED WITHIN POP CULTURE)
- Into the Dark (FINDING GOD AT THE MOVIES)
- Is There an App for That? (FAITH IN A TIME OF TOO MUCH INFORMATION)

Mark Burnett & Roma Downey

We welcome filmmakers and Pepperdine friends Mark Burnett and Roma Downey to the 2013 Pepperdine Bible Lectures, where they will visit with their friend Andy Benton, on Tuesday evening about their 10-hour miniseries, The Bible. The couple has invested three years in the ambitious project which focuses on Abraham, Moses, Jesus, and other central personalities and moments in the biblical story. The miniseries is scheduled to premiere on the History Channel in the first half of 2013.

MARK BURNETT, one of the best known television producers globally, has revolutionized television with hits such as Survivor, The Apprentice, and The Voice. He has received four Emmy Awards and four People’s Choice Awards.

ROMA DOWNEY, the acclaimed Irish-born actress, starred in the top-rated, long-running CBS series Touched by an Angel as the compassionate angel, Monica. Her work inspired millions of people, and she garnered Best Actress nominations for the Emmys and the Golden Globe awards. In The Bible, she plays Mary, the mother of Jesus.
John Barton and Keith Huey first met Saeed Khan—a professor at Wayne State University, a regular contributor to NPR and the BBC, and counterterrorism advisor to the U.S. and U.K. governments—a decade ago when the two Rochester College professors took their World Religions class to a local mosque. Since then, they have been hosted by Khan’s faith community many times, and they have welcomed him to Rochester College and other locations to discuss Christian/Muslim relationships.

Every fall the three now teach a class together at Rochester on “Muslim-Christian Interactions,” which attempts to respectfully and honestly explore the remarkable points of convergence and overlap between the two religious traditions, as well as the irreconcilable differences.

We welcome the three of them to the 2013 Pepperdine Bible Lectures as they continue this discussion on a globally important topic. We’re thankful for the mutual love and respect they have developed through all these interactions—a model for many others as conversations continue between members of the two religious communities.

Shepherds Gate: Serving/Leading in Conflict led by Tim Pownall
For many elders, it is difficult to sustain joy in their service with change, conflict, and dissatisfaction all around. In this track, Tim Pownall will offer guidance and encouragement to shepherds and their spouses for their vital work of spiritual leadership.

FRIDAY TRACK:

Rekindling the Flame: Gift, Call, and the Good News

Saint John's Bible

By Sarah Fisher

Described by Smithsonian magazine as one of the most extraordinary undertakings of our time, the Saint John's Bible—the first handwritten, illuminated Bible to be commissioned by a Benedictine Abbey in 500 years—is a throwback to a tradition that has largely disappeared in the west: art created primarily as religious worship. It was a tradition responsible for colorfully designed stained glass windows, Michelangelo’s celebrated paintings in the Sistine Chapel, and intricately illuminated manuscripts of scripture.

Handwritten, illuminated Bibles were mostly discontinued from this tradition after the invention of the printing press in the mid-1400s, due to the length and cost of creating such works. So when Mark Roosa, dean of Pepperdine Libraries, learned that the restorative Saint John's Bible project included 360 handwritten “Heritage Edition” copies of the new, original manuscript, he immediately set about trying to secure one for Pepperdine’s collection.

This Heritage Edition—including the final of the seven volumes which contains the book of Revelation—will be on public display in the Payson Library during the Pepperdine Bible Lectures. All are welcome to explore this amazing work.

Revelation is a dangerous book. Its heavy use of symbolism, controversial imagery, and foreign genre (apocalyptic) create a combustible mixture that often explodes into misinterpretation and abuse. Historically, Revelation has played a role in the perpetuation of violence, the justification of warfare and genocide, the stoking of vengeful fantasies, and the creation of a militant and arrogant perversion of Christianity that trades in self-gloration.

Such irresponsible interpretations of the book are indeed dangerous, yet we should not therefore deceive ourselves into thinking that more responsible interpretations carry any less of an edge. Even when handled faithfully, the book of Revelation remains dangerous because it does not allow Christians to be comfortable in this world. Revelation challenges our worldviews, demands allegiance to God alone, and calls for a life of radical obedience and service. It does provide comfort to those who suffer, yet does so paradoxically by encouraging them to continue in the same behavior (faithful witness) that generated their suffering in the first place.

In a world like that of our 21st-century culture where “the good life” is defined as prosperity and comfort, where tolerance is the highest value, where suffering is an evil to be avoided and eradicated at all costs, where the kingdom of God is often made indistinguishable from the kingdom of the world, Revelation is a dangerous book indeed.
Welcome! We hope you’ll catch the sense that God is at work at Pepperdine. In the months before you arrived—in the dorms you occupy, at the tables where you share meals, in the classrooms you gather in expecting to hear from God—students’ lives were being shaped for God’s service.

Each semester, Christian instructors and staff, programs for spiritual formation, and students leading and training in ministry ignite our community’s devotion and service to God. Pepperdine continues to grow in shaping each student’s heart, soul, strength, and mind for building up the communities and local churches where they are called “to glorify the name of God in the earth and extend His kingdom,” as George Pepperdine envisioned. As you engage our hospitable and passionate Pepperdine people, I hope you’ll get to hear how they contribute to our shared mission. You bless this place each year with your prayerful presence; we pray Pepperdine will strengthen your mission, worship, and ministry during your time here, and through generations of students to come.

Strengthening Lives for Purpose, Service, and Leadership

Pepperdine University is a Christian university committed to the highest standards of academic excellence and Christian values, where students are strengthened for lives of purpose, service, and leadership.

Sensing that the Bible Lectures had an opportunity to serve the church in greater ways, Sara Young Jackson, vice chancellor at Pepperdine, offered to partner with the Church Relations team to build resources to introduce new programs. We are thrilled to team up with Sara.

As a result of her effort, the Pepperdine Bible Lectures has been strengthened this year by the generous support of two donor families. In addition, we’ve been blessed by a generous gift from a church.

Together, these donors have made it possible for our keynote speakers to gather in fellowship, prayer and study. They have created a scholarship for ministers and missionaries to attend the lectures. They have supported a new effort to provide video recordings of lectures and presentations free of charge. They have supported new workshops and conferences that will be held throughout the year.

Through their generosity Pepperdine Bible Lectures will reach more people than ever through live streaming technologies. Their investment has made it possible for Pepperdine to host an annual leadership series prior to Bible Lectures.

Pepperdine gratefully acknowledges the substantial financial gifts made by Pepperdine Regent Danny Phillips and his wife, Carol, and Renaud and Marina De Plantas.

We also wish to thank the Golf Course Road Church of Christ in Midland, Texas for sponsoring and hosting the Keynote Speakers Bible study and retreat.

The Pepperdine Bible Lectures is moving forward into new territory thanks to these men and women who are dedicated to the idea that this program can be a source of new strength and energy to the church.
ASSOCIATED WOMEN FOR PEPPERDINE
Making A Difference

Women and men alike, we invite you to rally behind the cause of the Associated Women for Pepperdine! After all, who wouldn’t want to rally?

If you’re not very familiar with AWP, our mission is simple: support higher Christian education, recruit students from Churches of Christ, and enable those students to attend Pepperdine University through scholarships.

Our humble 1958 beginnings involved seven driven ladies who formed a steering committee to create a women’s organization to support Pepperdine College. One of those remarkable women was Helen Young, the wife of Pepperdine’s third president, Norvel Young, and our founding president. Helen says that “since that first meeting, thousands of women—great officers and just as great members—have worked with willing hands and loving hearts to enable thousands of students to receive scholarship aid to attend Pepperdine University.” In fact, the tally of monies raised is well over $4,000,000 and counting!

READY TO RALLY?

Join us for pie and coffee each night from 9 to 11 p.m. in the Waves Cafe.

Shop at our boutique located outside the Pepperdine bookstore.

Become an AWP member. Men, don’t forget that you can join too as AWP Fellows!

Keep an eye out for AWP fundraisers near you to support students throughout the year.

WOULD YOU LIKE TO LEARN MORE?
E-mail us directly at awp@pepperdine.edu, call (310) 506-4567, or visit www.pepperdine.edu/awp.

Instead of throwing more facts and figures at you, we want to instead introduce you to a young woman who directly benefited from an AWP scholarship so you can see for yourself:

Vanessa Magos came to Pepperdine from North County Church of Christ in Escondido, California, in 2008, and she graduated in April of 2012 with a bachelor’s degree in both Spanish and public relations. She now works in the entertainment industry with the hope of “bringing light to important global issues through film.” Vanessa says, “I am so thankful for the support of scholarships like AWP because there is no other way I could be where I am today or doing the things I am doing if it weren’t for the generous love and encouragement I have received.”
Pepperdine has worked hard to gain its footing in the very competitive field of higher education. It would have been a difficult climb for any college seeking to position itself as one of the nation’s leading universities; but it has been especially challenging for an institution equally committed to a distinctive Christian mission.

If the aspirations of Pepperdine weren’t challenging enough, the college encountered serious financial problems. In the late 1950s, facing the sudden collapse of George Pepperdine’s personal fortune, the college nearly failed. Were it not for the providence of God and many friendships both inside and outside Churches of Christ, the Pepperdine story would have ended abruptly.

Instead, the small Christian college emerged from the near death-experience as a leading university. By the mid-1980s, Pepperdine was ranked among the top 50 universities in the nation. To this day, it is the only Churches of Christ-affiliated university that is nationally ranked and it is the youngest Christian university near the top 50. Some might say that this remarkable feat has been achieved in spite of its relationship with Churches of Christ. Those closest to the mission would say that Pepperdine’s relationship with the fellowship that gave it life has played an essential role in that success.

Today, Pepperdine University is situated in one of the world’s most global cities, placing it at the crossroads of faith, academics, and culture. Though its Pacific Coast Highway address is far removed from the midwest and southern regions where the largest U.S. population of members of Churches of Christ resides, Pepperdine remains highly committed to the church, not out of a sense of obligation, but out of an understanding that the relationship is mutually beneficial.

Throughout Pepperdine’s history, the founder himself and many leaders who followed have withstood challenges and threats to the unique partnership between the University and Churches of Christ. Realizing that this relationship reaches the very core of Pepperdine’s mission, Pepperdine presidents from Norvel Young to David Davenport have urged each generation to reexamine the foundational values this relationship provides and to find new ways to strengthen the ties that bind us together.

By forming this new Church Relations team after 30 years of the exemplary leadership of Dr. Jerry Rushford, Pepperdine president Andrew Benton has again confirmed his commitment to Churches of Christ and signaled a shift in Pepperdine’s approach to reaching and serving the church. The new team, made up of men and women who either come from ministry or the mission field, has a special love for the church and insight into what makes the relationship to Pepperdine so powerful.

Together, we are committed to serving a church that finds itself in transition, helping it imagine and realize a bright future. We will work hard to not only position Pepperdine at the hub of the Church of Christ dialogue, but at the center of the unfolding Christian story, joining God in His work in this world.

Pepperdine has many services and impressive offerings that function in different parts of the University that could greatly support the church. The Church Relations team will endeavor to coordinate these programs to offer the most creative, dynamic, and relevant education materials, conferences, and resources, in an attempt to be a source of new energy within Churches of Christ.

Welcome to the first of many good things to come.

Welcome to the Pepperdine Bible Lectures.

Since completing your 30th Bible Lectures program last May, what have you been doing?

JERRY: Last summer was devoted to moving nearly 3,000 of my books and more than 100 boxes of archival materials I had collected over the past 40 years into the new Churches of Christ Heritage Center in Payson Library. We flew to the U.K. on August 15 to begin our eight and a half months of residence in Pepperdine’s international program in the historic city of London. Lori and I are serving as house parents to 41 energetic and delightful sophomores whom we have come to love. I am teaching four different courses, and every Sunday evening we host a wonderful “house church” gathering in our faculty flat. We have been fortunate to travel in the U.K. and Europe. We look forward to returning home on April 28 in time to participate in the 70th annual Pepperdine Bible Lectures!

What part of Bible Lectures are you most looking forward to now that you won’t have the director’s responsibilities?

JERRY: I will be able to attend more classes and enjoy more AWP “pie & coffee” evenings than I have in the past 30 years, and I will have more time to stop and visit with friends along the path.

Tell us what your plans are for the Churches of Christ Heritage Center in the coming years?

JERRY: The opportunity to create an archive of books, periodicals, documents, congregational histories, and photographs is the culmination of a lifetime of collecting old books, historical ephemera, and memorabilia related to Churches of Christ. I am looking forward to interviewing older Christians and to increasing the holdings of the archive, and I am very excited to begin organizing, cataloging, and digitizing this valuable collection. One of the tasks I am eager to begin immediately is the identifying of persons and places in hundreds of historic photographs. I love researching the Christian heritage of Pepperdine University, and I believe that being director of the Heritage Center is the greatest job in the world. I know that in the years to come I may often be weary, but I will never be bored.

TO THE SEVEN CHURCHES IN THE PROVINCE OF ASIA

Grace and peace to you from him who is, and who was, and who is to come, and from the seven spirits before his throne, and from Jesus Christ, who is the faithful witness, the firstborn from the dead, and the ruler of the kings of the earth.

To him who loves us and has freed us from our sins by his blood, and has made us to be a kingdom and priests to serve his God and Father—to him be glory and power for ever and ever! Amen.

“Look, he is coming with the clouds,” and “every eye will see him, even those who pierced him”; and all peoples on earth “will mourn because of him.” So shall it be! Amen. “I am the Alpha and the Omega,” says the Lord God, “who is, and who was, and who is to come, the Almighty.”

REVELATION 1:4-8
