Displaying Loyalty in the Midst of Rebellion: Jewish Loyalist Coins in the 1st Century

All Coins Courtesy of Dr. John Wilson’s Collection
Photographs Analyzed Using RTI Technology

Pepperdine SURP 2013
Faculty Mentor: Dr. Ronald Cox
Research and Presentation by Eric Kim
Goals of Research

• Analyze coin from the city of Sepphoris
• Develop a more holistic/balanced understanding of Israel in the 1st century
  – How widespread were the sentiments of the Jewish revolt, seen in Jerusalem, throughout larger Israel?
  – How was coinage used as ancient propaganda?
  – What new or corresponding information is shed on the First Jewish Revolt?
RTI Technology

• Reflectance Transformation Imaging (RTI)
• An image is photographed from numerous angles with a light source (flash) which is then analyzed and complied by a computer
• Allows re-lighting and enhancement to the image
• Through this technology, data that was previously indiscernible or ambiguous can now be more carefully studied
The First Jewish Revolt

- 66 – 73 AD
- Years of tension between Jewish people and Roman leadership met its climax when the Temple was plundered
- Rome originally believed this to be a minor rebellion, but the defeat of Cestius Gallus and the Syrian Legion in the Battle of Beth Horon quickly led to reassessment
- The revolt’s epicenter was Jerusalem. However, Jerusalem was as much involved in repelling Rome as it was in dealing with civil war
- Jerusalem eventually lost which led to the destruction of the Second Temple, scattering of the Jewish people, and development of post-temple Judaism
Jewish Revolt Coin (Obverse)

Inscription: “Year 4” = 69 AD
Jewish Revolt Coin (Reverse)

Chalice with Pearled Rim

Inscription: “To the Redemption of Zion” (Paleo Hebrew)
Sepphoris

- City in central Galilee
- One of the cities during the First Jewish Revolt that remained loyal to Rome
- Josephus’s description of Sepphoris
  - “ornament of all Galilee”
  - “he [Cestius Gallus] was received by the strongest city of Galilee, which was Sepphoris, with acclimations of joy”
  - The people of Sepphoris promised to “assist him [Vespasian] against their own countrymen”
  - They received “Roman garrsion… to oppose the incursion of Jews”
  - “it was the largest city of Galilee, and built in a place by nature very strong”
Sepphoris Coin (Obverse)

Inscription: “In the time of Vespasian in Irenopolis-Neroneas-Sepphoris”
Sepphoris Coin (Reverse)

Inscription: “Year 14 of Nero Claudius Caesar”
Results

• Sepphoris is representative of Jewish cities and people that were not in favor of the Jewish revolt against Rome
• Jews perhaps from Sepphoris, or similar cities, may have been in Jerusalem to celebrate Passover when the revolt began
• Reinforces the Hellenization of Jews and the differing degrees of results of that process
• Josephus made more than one campaign to take Sepphoris, analogues of Jews in Jerusalem having to fight not only Romans, but fellow Jews
• Sepphoris used coinage as an influential medium to relay loyalty to Rome, to distinguish themselves from the people and events of Jerusalem
• Overall, Sepphoris illustrates the rather mixed opinions of the Jewish people which divided the cause